Grand jury indicts Mehelic

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic was indicted Thursday by a Madison County grand jury on one felony count of official misconduct and seven misdemeanor counts of theft of services.

He is free on a $35,000 recognizance bond, set Thursday in the Third Circuit Court at Edwardsville.

Road commissioner for the past six years, Mehelic pleaded innocent Friday when arraigned before Chief Circuit Judge A. A. Mateosian. No trial date has been set.

The grand jury first heard evidence concerning the investigation on March 17. Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation agents initiated the probe at least a month prior to the grand jury hearing.

The indictment for official misconduct alleges that Mehelic, "while acting in his official capacity, with the intent to obtain personal advantages for himself, performed acts in excess of his lawful authority."

Mehelic, who was unavailable for comment, had denied any wrongdoing before the indictments were returned and told the Press-Record that everything he did "was for the good of the township."

The alleged misconduct includes directing "township employees, while employed by Nameoki Township and during regular working hours" to perform a variety of jobs for Mehelic, for which he was indicted on the seven theft of services charges.

He allegedly directed employees to: perform maintenance work on his wife's and daughter's personal cars; dig and lay a sewer at a mobile home he owns; build a duck blind for him; perform grading work at a racetrack not in the township; build a barn on his property; do grading and backhoe work on his property; and do maintenance work on his personal backhoe and tractor.

Mehelic owns property on Lake Drive just south of Highway 162 and the Press-Record learned that some township equipment was being kept there at one time, allegedly to perform services for him.

It was believed when the investigation started that allegations about use of township gasoline were being considered, but that aspect of the probe was not included in the indictments.

Sources close to the investigation asserted that Township Supervisor Harry Briggs was discussed. Briggs said Thursday that he did not appear before the grand jury.

When asked if he had been granted immunity from prosecution in return for subsequent testimony, Briggs said, "Not that I'm aware of." He declined to comment about the indictments against Mehelic.

The theft of services indictments allege that Mehelic directed employees to perform work for him "without the consent of Nameoki Township."

Briggs said he knew nothing specific about the indictments.

Heidtman Steel will proceed with plant construction at Highway 3 site

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Heidtman Steel Products, Inc., a steel processing company that had earlier put off plans to locate a plant here, has decided the time is right to move ahead with a $7 million operation.

President John Bates was in Granite City Friday to purchase about a 35-acre section of land on Illinois Highway Three near the Shasta Bottling Co. plant. The property will be the site of a steel slitting, pickling and leveling plant.

Accompanying the president was Bill

Heidtman, chairman and chief executive officer of Heidtman Steel, and Bob Deters, executive vice president. While here, Bates also conferred with Mayor Paul Schuler about renewing the firm's application for a $10 million municipal industrial revenue bond issue. In December 1981, the council approved a letter of intent to sponsor the tax-free bonds.

"Economic conditions got to the point where we're making our move," Bates explained. Another important factor, he said, was the availability of space and equipment used by the former Steelabrade Corp., 1603 Cleveland Blvd. Heidtman purchased Steelabrade's equipment last week. Steelabrade had operated a steel slitting and warehousing facility at the location of the former Commonwealth Plant of General Steel Industries.

Heidtman Steel has already begun a 10-employee Service Center at the Steelabrade site. By June 1, Heidtman plans to start a slitting line there, prior to moving the line into its own plant. The preliminary slitting operations will employ about 35 workers.

Bates is hopeful the company will break ground at the Highway Three site within six months and have its building finished within a year, at which time it will move its slitting operations there.

In about two years, the company wants to include a pickling line, with total employment of about 100.

The firm is currently hiring through the Madison County jobs training program and applicants are to apply through the county's Office of Manpower Development, 200 Hillsboro Ave., Edwardsville.

Bates said Heidtman will be buying steel from all major steel producers, but the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp. will be its largest supplier. Initially, Heidtman plans to purchase about 60,000 tons a year from National Steel, later expanding that volume to about 100,000 tons a year.

Heidtman Steel is based in Bradford, Mich., and operates five other steel service centers. The plant to be located here will be a continuous pickling operation, giving chemical treatments to coils of steel.

The line also will be equipped with slitters to cut the steel and a leveling operation to uncoil the steel rolls.

Bates pointed to help provided by Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Bowler in bringing the steel company to this area. Both Bowler and Sixth Ward Alderman Stephen Salich were present at the company's City Hall conference with the mayor.

Mayor Schuler recently appointed Bowler chairman of the council's new Industrial Search Committee. Bowler operates R. M. Bowler Contract Hauling Company, a trucking firm.

According to Bowler, he has been in constant touch with Heidtman Steel during the months it has been considering the move here.

GC college leaders named

The Belleville Area College Board of Trustees last week approved position and title changes for seven college employees, including the administrator who will oversee the new Granite City Center.

"The changes were made as part of the college district's plans to expand the Granite City program this fall," BAC President Bruce R. Wisore said.

Dr. Wayne Clark of Belleville was named executive vice-president of the District 522. He will be responsible for administration of the Belleville campus. Clark was formerly vice-president for instruction.

Dr. Frank Gornick of Belleville was named provost of the Granite City Center. He was formerly dean of university transfer programs. Joining him in administration of GCC at the North High School building will be Lee Knoebel and Rosanna Herren. He will be director of administrative services and she will be director of student life and community services.

Knoebel was formerly director of financial aid and placement at the Belleville campus.

Rosanna Herren was an independent consultant hired to work with the BAC Foundation to coordinate preparation of the college's accreditation self-study. With her appointment at GCC,

Where did $2.8 million go?

By PATHAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

The prosecution rested its case Thursday in the trial of former Stix & Co. Senior Vice President Thomas Brimberry after testimony from government witnesses told of occasions when Brimberry instructed them to find and destroy all financial records from the stock brokerage.

Defense Attorneys Rodney De Villiers and Lawrence Fleming began their defense at Alton on Thursday. The trial is resuming today and is expected to continue until tomorrow or Wednesday.

Neither De Villiers nor Fleming would say if Brimberry will take the stand in his own defense. But in a heated exchange during Thursday's proceedings, Assistant U.S. Attorney Ronald Kane said that Brimberry should take the stand to "clarify" testimony by Internal Revenue Service Special Agent John Brissman.

During De Villiers' cross examination of Brissman, he questioned Brissman on his testimony that Brimberry converted $5.2 million of checks from forged securities at Stix homes, cars and style of living.

Brissman testified that he could not account for $2.8 million, and De Villiers challenged his findings:

"You're not telling the jury that there's a hoard of cash that Brimberry squirreled away somewhere, are you Mr. Brissman?"

"No, I'm not telling them that," Brissman answered.

As De Villiers continued to question Brissman about the possible location of the $2.8 million, Kane told De Villiers to "put the defendant on the stand to clarify the issue."

De Villiers angrily objected to the suggestion, and U.S. District Judge William Beatty delivered a sharp reprimand to Kane, telling the jury to disregard Kane's "highly improper" remarks.

In other testimony on Thursday, Ar-

Mixed emotions as school year comes to a close

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Teachers finishing the final week of classroom work. Students, restless, waiting out the last days until summer vacation.

These are typical sights during the last days before school ends, except for the boxes stacked everywhere.

Boxes containing books and materials that will be shipped to other schools—schools that are staying open—are waiting at Emerson, Nameoki, Johnson, Lake and Logan elementary schools and North High School.

The teachers and administrators at these schools are frazzled from the final hectic days of preparing to move. Telephones in the offices of the principals ring non-stop.

Some employees seem to be "going through the motions"—many for perhaps the final time in Granite City because, on May 27, they will join the unemployed of the area.

It is a sad day for the community, the teachers and principals say. Many of the students agree.

A Press-Record reporter and photographer visited Emerson, Nameoki, Johnson and North on Thursday to talk to students, teachers and administrators about the closings. Their reactions, by school, follow.

EMERSON SCHOOL
As the oldest school in Granite City, Emerson is a landmark. It opened as an eight-room school in 1897.

The students, more than at any other school visited, seem unhappy that Emerson is closing and not a bit shy about stating their displeasure.

Principal Alfred Wilson also voices sadness. He will be principal next year at Marshall School and is spending the last week at Emerson packing books, materials and belongings from his office. It has taken a great deal of time to organize the move. "And it seems like there's not enough time," he says.

Use of newspaper stories and statistics as an element of the instruction is to be kept alive, at Marshall.

At an open house last week, former Emerson students visited and an impromptu reunion of patrol boys from the class of 1931 took place.

Since 1931, Emerson has changed. Newspapers have been used extensively in the classrooms to supplement textbooks, a procedure that the sixth grade class of Vic Popovsky says the pupils have appreciated and learned from.

Popovsky says the students like the idea of attending an old, neighborhood school. It fulfills their image of what a school should be.

Many of the students come back after dinner to play at the school. Many of them will continue that practice when it closes.

Popovsky's class was asked for its reactions to the closing of Emerson.

Linda Johnson: "I've gone here for seven years. I think it's pitiful."

Tiffany Bax: "I'm glad I got my last year in at Emerson before it closed."

Tommy Lindsey: "I'm kinda sad it's closing. I'm glad I got to go here the last year."

Crystal Maloney: "I feel kind of sad. I went here in the second grade. Then I went to Catholic School, then Logan, Marshall and Logan again. I like this school the best. I have more friends here than at other schools."

Sara Terrell: "I've gone here since the fourth grade. I like it a lot. I like using newspapers."

Kelly Vaughn: "I feel kind of sad. My sister and brother won't have the opportunity to go on the field trips like we did this year and last."

NAMEOKI SCHOOL
Don Kopp has been at Nameoki for 24 years, 21 of those as principal. Next year, he will be principal at Frohardt School, which about 40 percent of the Nameoki students will attend. Knowing most of the Frohardt teachers, and with some of the Nameoki teachers to transfer there, Kopp thinks the adjustment will be easier. But he still expresses regrets, which were evident not only in his words but in his voice.

"The thing I regret more than anything is breaking up a good teaching team. I think this is probably the best teaching team in Granite City."

Most of the teachers have been at Nameoki for at least 12 years. "We kind of think alike. We anticipate each other's thoughts and needs. They'll do a

Home Show is 'a hit'

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Home Show, sponsored by the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, was once again successful, bringing Quad-Cityans out to the Wilson Park ice rink to see 90 booths and sign up for an array of give-aways Friday through Sunday.

Drew Karandjeff, president of the bank, estimated that between 14,000 and 15,000 people attended and said the Home Show will be held again next year, for a third time. "It was a big success last year, and even better this year," he commented.

Businesses provided the Home Show crowd with a variety of "freebies," including ink pens, yardsticks and brochures.

One of the biggest draws was the Granite City Police Department booth, where a videotape of the May 1 tornado damage here was shown continuously.

The Pepsi Challenge game also captivated people, with long lines waiting to declare their soft drink preference.

The Press-Record offered six reserved seats to a Cardinal baseball game. Burton, John M. Juhász and Charles McDaniel received two tickets each during the three days of the show.

People milled around, walking slowly from booth to booth and, as one woman said, "signing our lives away" for the assorted gifts. Old and young packed the ice rink each day and the crowds scarcely abated even as the Home Show drew to a close late yesterday afternoon.

On Sunday, St. Louis Steamers Tony Bellinger and Steve Hovak signed autographs and talked to soccer fans, of which there were many.

Mel Embrich, the chairman this year, scurried about from booth to booth making certain everything was running well. And except for the exhibitors trying to keep up with the crowds, it went well.

Aiding Embrich in directing the 1983 Home Show were Dan Delbert, Mike Thornton and Carol Pickens.

"This is the best opportunity I've ever had," Dr. Gornick said. He thanked the board for its support in establishing the Granite City Center and in the selection of him to head the project.

Gornick already has been busy working in Granite City and surrounding communities to let residents know about GCC, which will open Aug. 22, the beginning of the college's fall semester.

"This is our chance to expand services to our district," he said, explaining that the center will be conveniently located for residents of the northern portion of the college district, Illinois District 522.

The center will be located at 4950 Maryville Road in what has been Granite City High School North. The high school will close May 27.

Foes of I-255 file lawsuit

By TORI WHITEHEAD

Opponents to the proposed 5.8 mile extension of Interstate 255 north from Collinsville to Interstate 270 have filed suit in U.S. District Court in Alton.

The group is seeking a temporary injunction to stop the Illinois Department of Transportation from acquiring land to begin the project.

House Bill 547, which includes funds for land acquisition for the construction, was signed by Governor Jim Thompson last week.

The suit, filed by Fairview Heights Attorney Harry Sterling, names IDOT, Secretary of Transportation John Kramer and IDOT district engineer Dale Klorer as defendants.

Plaintiffs in the case include the group, Save American Bottoms Essential Resources, and 14 individuals.

The suit asks that a temporary injunction be issued to prohibit IDOT from acquiring any of the 500 acres of prime farmland necessary to complete the project and that a permanent injunction be issued after a hearing.

The lawsuit challenges 14 allegedly incorrect or incomplete aspects of the environmental impact statement filed on the project.

The suit alleges in part: —That the study is based on projected growth when in fact the population of Madison County has declined over the study period, and falls far short of the projection.

—That parts of the overall plan were developed when IDOT anticipated the construction of an airport at Columbia-Waterloo. The airport plans have been abandoned.

—That the study says the 5.8 miles of I-255 are designed to complete the loop around the St. Louis metropolitan area when, in fact, the loop is complete by construction to Interstate 55-70 at Collinsville.

—That the study admits an alternative to the construction would be improvements of Illinois 111 and 127, which could be accomplished by displacing only 25 percent of acreage necessary for the proposed 5.5 miles of interstate.

The suit also alleges that acquisition of farmland for the interstate would be in contravention of an Illinois state law which seeks to preserve agricultural areas.

The law referred to is the Agricultural Areas Conservation Act.

Sterling, the attorney, this morning said the suit had not yet been set for a hearing.

He said U.S. District Judge William Beatty has disqualified himself from hearing the case to avoid a possible conflict of interest reportedly involving a relative's occupation.

The 14 plaintiffs in the lawsuit, in addition to the protest group SABER, are James Vernon Sparks, Norma Sparks, James W. Sparks, Margaret Sparks, Walter Dean Faber, Gordon Gas, Mary Jane Gas, John Keller, Louis Keller, William Keller, Don Willoughby, Lee Willoughby, Thomas Kaimann, Anna Kaimann.

A member of SABER told reporters that Governor Thompson, although earlier agreeing to meet with the group, now says he doesn't have time.

The group is scheduled to meet with Kramer, Friday, May 27.

Dioxin plan at Sauget

Agreement has been reached on a temporary containment plan for dioxin contamination at the South Mobile Avenue site of the new regional wastewater treatment plant in Sauget.

The plan calls for moving contaminated soils from the construction area into specially designed temporary storage cells on the site.

The dioxin laden material will be held in these cells until final determination can be made on permanent disposal. At the same time, additional sampling and analysis will be carried out to confirm the depth of contaminated soils and the area involved.

"This plan, while temporary, will contain the material in an environmentally sound manner which will guarantee the safety and welfare of workers in the area and the general public," Richard J. Carlson, director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, said this week.

Agreement on the plan was reached by representatives of the Village of Sauget, the IEPA and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency at a meeting in Sauget. The plan is based on a proposal recently presented by Sauget officials.

Mayor Paul Sauget said, "Construction on the site will not resume until this plan is implemented and we are assured that a program for worker safety has been completed by the construction company and is in force."

Material from an area at least 100 feet long by 100 feet wide by 2½ feet deep will be removed and stored on-site

County pays fired employee to end suit

A former employee of the public defender's office will receive $14,000 in back pay, dismissing a lawsuit he filed after he was fired from his job.

Leon Wright of Edwardsville sought action from the Humanities Commission after he was fired May 5, 1981, from his job as an investigator by public defender William Kinder of Granite City.

Kinder says "the key reason was that another employee's CETA grant ended and I had to lay someone off. I had a choice between a woman with a master's degree in social sciences, who speaks two languages, and was more competent, and him," Kinder says.

The Madison County Board voted Wednesday to pay Wright and drop the lawsuit on the advice of Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith, who said the county should learn a "moral" lesson from the incident.

Smith said the Humanities Commission "goes beyond all federal civil rights" rulings and "they always take the side of the injured person." Wright is black, but Kinder contends that had nothing to do with his dismissal.

However, Paul Riley, former public defender, who hired Wright, said the dismissed employee was capable.

The problem, Smith said, was that adequate records concerning Wright's tenure and dismissal were not kept by the public defender's office. He suggested that officials document everything from now on and consult a lawyer in such a situation.

The Humanities Commission had determined that Wright was entitled to some $26,000 in back pay, should he win his case in court.

Citizen action here, elsewhere

Call it citizen action, or participatory democracy, or what you will: our communities and nation are all about—people discussing, planning and taking action to improve their towns and regions.

State "home town" awards were presented Thursday. In the 43,000 and larger population category, Waukegan won for a crime prevention program, Springfield was second with "energy for the future" and Collinsville, Edwardsville, Glen Carbon, Maryville and Troy were third for forming an economic and job development group. Honorable mention went to Decatur, assistance for the disadvantaged, and South Holland, literacy for adults.

Citizen involvement was not limited to populous areas. Among around 100 to 200 residents, Wilsonville placed first by eliminating a hazardous waste site. And this also was judged to be the best overall attainment among Illinois communities.

Nor were the towns and cities only by adults. Youth awards were presented for a town clean-up, new clubs, a new theater group and formation of a work and recreation program.

Awards totaled 48. Among the projects were developing new parks, holding a heritage festival, improving fire protection, 125th and 150th anniversary observances, a new fire hall and civic center, upgrading am-balance service, saving a public swimming pool, home construction financing, new senior citizen and community centers, downtown revitalizations, a new recreation complex, physical and social enhancements, a food and toy drive, restoration work, town promotion, retention of an industry, bicycle safety, expansion of a nature area, and a home improvements program.

At Wilsonville, people raised money to fund a court battle to block continued dumping of chemical wastes in a nearby abandoned coal mine. The Illinois Supreme Court ruled in favor of those who objected, and removal of the waste began in October 1982.

Governor James Thompson said at Thursday's award dinner, "Wilsonville residents showed all of us how determination and cooperation can triumph. Continued dumping at the landfill would have meant a potential catastrophe. By the entire community joining together, the people not only made Wilsonville a safer place to live but also made it an example for cities across the nation which face this or other problems."

The Wilsonville issue was of special importance here because some of the streams and underground arteries leading southwestward from that city wind their way to Granite City and environs.

Tomorrow's jobs defined today

Youngsters are going to become city firemen or circus clowns or railroad engineers, but a more complex outlook faces today's children.

The latest dictionary of occupational titles adds such jobs as solar energy systems designer, nuclear decontamination research specialist, software technician, vector control assistant, radiopharmacist, optical effects camera operator, job development specialist, radiation protection specialist, satellite instructor, facilitator, keymodule assembly machine tender, ultrasonic tester, computerized photolithography technician and laser beam trim operator.

The problem with such a dictionary of titles is that another dictionary will need to be alongside it to help explain the terminology.

As Assistant Labor Secretary Albet Angrisani sees

it, "Our economy is shifting its job skill requirements with the development of high technology through computers and automation. Young people preparing for careers must be ready to adapt themselves to new and changing job requirements, or face becoming future unemployment statistics."

There are now about 15,000 occupations, each with a number code as a resource for job placement, manpower planning and personnel utilization.

It may be a bit complicated, but we've already made up our mind: When we grow up, we'd like to become a laserist.

We're not sure what a laserist can or should do to earn a livelihood, but the title certainly has a nice James Bond sound to it. And it doesn't seem like it would involve much heavy lifting.

America's voice being hampered

Wall Street Journal—Among the hordes of Clark Kents in Washington gathering the most up-to-date news about the goings-on in government, there are a few unsung heroes. Namely, the correspondents for Tass, Pravda, Izvestia, Hungarian News Agency, East German News Service, China's Xinhua News Agency and Soviet TV and Radio.

These reporters work diligently to explain the complexities of our freely elected government, upholding the finest journalistic traditions of the national press, and are thus accorded official credentials to cover the U.S. Congress.

Not so much can be said about the scribblers who toil in the Voice of America, the Free Europe Radio Liberty. American taxpayers provide more than $200 million every year to subsidize these operations to bring news of the free world to more than 100 million listeners behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains.

This, of course, makes these correspondents propagandists. Obviously, such hacks aren't decent enough to cover the hearings, speeches and votes of our luminaries in Capitol Hill.

That, at least is the official position of the Washington press corps, represented by the Standing Committees of Correspondents which decide who gets official accreditation.

Officials of the government-run Voice of America and the subsidized but privately operated Radio Free Europe keep asking to sit in the Congressional press galleries, but their fellow Washington journalists keep turning them down because they are government employees.

What about the ban on employees of foreign governments' Why are Tass and Pravda allowed in? In 1959, it seems, the Correspondents Committees bent the rules a bit under pressure from the State Department and major U.S. news agencies, which feared retaliation against American correspondents in Moscow.

But when it comes to the VOA and Radio Free Europe, whose listeners rely on them to fill in the news that the Tass and Pravda reporters on Capitol Hill might have missed, the good men and women of the Washington press corps refuse to cede their principles.

datelines his letter to shareholders from Aspen, Colo. He comments, "About the only good thing you can say about 1982 is that the $25 stock you bought as an Aspen ski ticket, our informal inflation guide, did not increase for the first time in memory."

Despite last year's disappointments, the Wall Street Journal points out, all is not lost. Taking a somewhat longer look back, we find that the securities firm's net assets have doubled in the last 11 years.

Also, the company has raised its dividend 19 years in a row, paying out $11.25 a share in 1982. And there is hope for the future.

"Speaking of dividends, our aim is to pay a three-button dividend as soon as we can. The Aspen Emporium today charged me $4 to sew a button on my jacket."

The Press-Record asked readers if they feel lasers in space and other sophisticated weapons will ever replace the foot soldier in war. Their answers follow.

Bill Evans, Granite City

"Yes, I do. I most certainly do. Lasers can knock out anything in the world, if they (scientists) can perfect them."

Ike Pasley, Granite City

"Though I hope there is never a need to find out, I feel the foot soldier will not be eliminated. Someone will have to go in and personally handle any stragglers who have managed to avoid this new weaponry."

Charles Kohl, Granite City

"No. For final operations, we are going to need the foot soldier to go in and do the actual cleaning up operation. I have seen cities in Germany completely destroyed by bombs, but still we had to go in and clean up."

Carrie Boyer, Granite City

"Yes, it's going to be very computerized in the modern world. We won't need the soldier."

Weber's actions are defended by his father.

To the Editor,

Indicted on a bribery charge by the Venice County Grand Jury composed of ordinary citizens, appealed by a defense attorney, reviewed by one-man, a judge, who discredited the grand jury and freed the accused. This the first round of the state's attorney. Question: did the judge send this epithet to Defense Attorney Lucio at the outset, or did the defense attorney slip it to the judge at the close?

Thus the prosecution of Mr. James Barton has been delayed until the Appellate Court can straighten it out. Meanwhile, Barton is allowed to exercise daily censorship of the state's attorney. Question: did the judge send this epithet to Defense Attorney Lucio at the outset, or did the defense attorney slip it to the judge at the close?

And why did the judge decide that Barton should be

Saturday night brawl in a tavern.

In the early hearings, Democratic Defense Attorney Lucio accused Weber of "prosecutorial misconduct." Democratic Judge Ferguson repeated the very same words in his six-page censorship of the state's attorney. Question: did the judge send this epithet to Defense Attorney Lucio at the outset, or did the defense attorney slip it to the judge at the close?

Thus the prosecution of Mr. James Barton has been delayed until the Appellate Court can straighten it out. Meanwhile, Barton is allowed to exercise daily censorship of the state's attorney. Question: did the judge send this epithet to Defense Attorney Lucio at the outset, or did the defense attorney slip it to the judge at the close?

And why did the judge decide that Barton should be freed by him before even trying to pick a jury? Because reporters printed material they read from the judge's own court files? Because the prosecutor allowed the citizens to air their grievance as a public meeting and had the "audacity" to state that getting Barton to trial was his number one priority? Because the prosecutor made evidence of Barton's conduct available to the county board?

In all the highly publicized cases in this area, no judge has ever been unable to find a fair and impartial jury. Was the Barton case dismissed because it wasn't even worth trying to find a jury? Surely there was not more publicity in the Barton case than in the Massa case, the Brimberry case, the Prante Bite-Mark case or the Zevallos kidnapping. Is it just a coincidence that the only time in anyone's memory that a case was dismissed because of publicity just happened to occur when an influential Democrat was under indictment?

It appears to me that the only misconduct by the state's attorney was his failure to recognize the double standard of justice that has for so long been the law in Madison County. It must be comforting to a few that the judiciary is ready to enforce this double standard while the state's attorney believes the single standard should be enforced on all — with no exceptions. The events in the Barton case reminds one of the first law in the book, "Animal Farm." All animals are equal, but some are more equal than others.

"We have not bought any stock in Wisconsin Securities, a Delaware corporation, but we are intrigued by the chances of the present, George M. Chester. He acknowledges that its assets' value declined in 1982 by 7.85 percent while the Dow Jones industrial average was rising 19.6 percent."

"It was a difficult year for both William Agee (whose company merged into another and whose job evaporated) and George Chester, who still has a job thanks to his many relatives," he writes in the firm's annual report.

Chester adds that it "was not a good year for steel, oil field supplies, oil drilling, petroleum, fertilizer, titanium, foundries and Atari video games, in all of which areas we had substantial investments."

JEWELRY JOTTINGS

The emerald was once believed to enable its owner to predict the future. It could also reveal if a lover's oath was true and was thought to enable its owner to speak eloquently and to strengthen his memory.

Q: I've heard it is a good idea for an individual to check his personal earnings record with the Social Security Administration. I'm wondering now how often such a check should be requested, or is once sufficient?

A: It is a very good idea to make such a check periodically, say about every three years. It does happen that people lose benefits by failing to check their records on a regular basis. There are opportunities for errors to be made. For example, an employer may have put the wrong name or the wrong Social Security number on the records he submits to the government.

Those earnings, then are never posted to the correct account. Social Security reports that it has about $88 billion in unclaimed earnings records, dating back as far as 1937. Your local Social Security office will be happy to supply you with the proper forms to request a check, and to assist you in filling them out and mailing them.

good job wherever they go. That's the mark of a good teacher," he says.

Teacher Linda Givens once attended Nameoki School and has now lost her job in the financially-strapped district, one of more than 100 faculty members honorably dismissed. She is "very sad."

Several students in Bob Pawlak's fifth grade class will be bused next year, a situation they don't like. Many of them will be going to different schools than their friends. Pawlak will be teaching at Frohardt.

"My personal feelings are that this is one of the best districts in the state. Standardized tests prove that every year."

"It's because of the teachers' hard work and the students' willingness to work. I think it's a shame that so many of those teachers who helped to make it a good district have no jobs. The board hopefully will be able to find a way to rehire them in the future," he says.

The initial dismissal list of 192 has shrunk to 138 in recent weeks. He says his students seem to agree that "it's a shame."

Doug Rogers: "It really stinks because I don't think I'll be able to get a dumb school, Parkway. I'll have to make nearly all new friends. I'll have to ride to school in a car everyday because they can't even bus me."

Tammy Groves: "I don't want it (Nameoki) to close. I'll lose friends because some are not going to the same schools as me."

Lisa Jones: "I had to change schools before when Stallings closed down (in 1979)."

Second graders playing outside during recess objected to going to different schools because of the distance they will have to travel each day, and because they will miss their friends.

When asked his opinion, Bobby Williams, who was playing near the jungle gym, replied: "Boo! It's not so good in a way. I like this school better."

JOHNSTON SCHOOL

The newest elementary school in the district, Johnson uses an open-space concept with classes divided and grouped in one general area without interior walls. Students and teachers may feel a bit claustrophobic next year in other buildings.

Richard Brinkhoff has been Johnson's only principal during its 11 years and he will take over at Prather Elementary School in the fall.

He says it is important to stress that Johnson is not being closed because of its different teaching concept, team teaching, but for other reasons.

"It's (the concept) been extremely successful, only because of the dedication of the staff and the extreme good will to close," he says.

Some parents were at the school Thursday. Two of them, Sherry Potts and Mary Jo Utz, credited the teachers for making the concept of Johnson a success.

"I really enjoy Johnson. I just think all the teachers are great," says Mrs. Potts. She has two children who attended Johnson and a third who will start kindergarten at Mitchell.

"It's (Johnson) provided a good foundation for education. Elementary education makes the foundation. Without that, you can't function when you go to high school," Mrs. Utz says.

First graders in Carole Locke's class are disappointed that they will be going to a different school and so are sixth graders, Kevin Wozniak and Kirk Nussbaum, both of whom have younger siblings who will not benefit from Johnson's unique atmosphere.

"It's sad the school is closing. But then, life is full of change," says Wilma Bone, a learning center teacher, as she supervises Wozniak and Nussbaum while they arrange boxes.

NORTH HIGH SCHOOL

When the district first announced that Granite City High School North would close at the end of the 1982-83 school year, students there expressed resentment and sadness about the decision.

In its 10 years, North established its own identity, already strong with tradition, and it will be difficult to end that without any impact.

On Aug. 22, it will reopen as the Granite City District of Community College District 522.

North Principal Gilbert Walsley will take over at the combined high school, a change about which he is very optimistic. South is expected to be renamed Granite City High School or Granite City Senior High School.

"I think the new school will be highly successful. I'm very much looking forward to it," he says. Walsley was an assistant principal at Granite City High School during its peak enrollment years before North opened; therefore, he says, he will have no problems with the location or the increased student population, estimated at 2,900 to 3,000.

Some amateur sportsmen in the community have expressed serious problems — including open hostility and fighting — when the schools combine, but Walsley doesn't see it that way.

"I think there will be very little hostility between the two student groups," he says. For several weeks, he has worked daily with representatives from both student councils and says they have exhibited a great "spirit of cooperation."

Students interviewed at North generally seem to agree with him, several saying they cannot understand what the uproar is all about.

Carla Taylor, junior, said she doesn't want to go to a new school, but she doesn't like it to close. "I don't like it to close. I think it's too late now. I don't like it at all. I think it will help athletics."

assure freedom for Skinner so that defendants, if convicted and imprisoned, would have a friend "on the outside."

Sherry Lissom, a former babysitter for the Brimberys and the Millers, testified that Brimberry instructed her to search Miller's house to give her any records she found there which related to Stix.

Extremely tense and barely audible at times, Miss Lissom told the jury that Brimberry had called her in March 1982, telling her to "get into Junior's (Miller's) house and get the records from Stix and anything that looked important."

"He (Brimberry) asked me if I thought he was innocent and I said, 'Yes,' so she testified that was the reason he said that everybody had turned on him and that Art (Miller) — and everybody — was out to get him."

Miss Lissom explained that she did not

James Eads, junior and member of the North wrestling team: "I travel over to South, but I just travel over there, the kids are all right. They don't treat you any different because you go to North. I think there will be fewer problems than everybody says. Athletics will be tougher."

Scott Speck, junior: "It doesn't really bother me because I went to Coolidge and have a lot of friends there. I think they're making a big deal out of nothing."

Several staff members of the school newspaper, the North Star, were sitting in the publication's classroom, pondering their futures as reporters when the schools combine. They all expressed disappointment.

On the wall behind them, they had written their names around a huge silver star.

Lisa Harrell, junior: "I just hope we can get along and work as one instead of being North and South."

Chris Bailey, junior: "I'm hoping they change the name of the newspaper, maybe combine the two. Maybe call it the High Star. (South's newspaper is called the High World.) It's sad, but I understand the situation. Maybe we can make the best of it."

Chris King, junior: "There will be more girls and more competition for sports. It will be more competitive to make the teams, but not for the real good players."

For the community, there's great potential in combining the high schools, but the real impact of the school closings will not be felt until the new school year begins.

On Tuesday, the school will close, and for some of the buildings it will be permanent.

Today through Thursday, Granite City elementary pupils will be dismissed at 2 p.m.; they will finish at 10:30 a.m. Friday.

At the junior high schools, classes will conclude today through Thursday at 2:40 p.m. and Friday at 11 a.m. At the high schools, buses will arrive Monday and Tuesday at 4:40 p.m. and 3:10 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. Classes will end Friday at 9:10 a.m. for high school students.

Graduation at South will be outdoors Thursday evening. For North, graduation will be Friday night in the South gymnasium.

The final North graduation and the school's closing are occasions that will be "very, sad. Very, very sad," Walsley acknowledges.

But many people at that North and the school closings that are being closed will live on in the memories of all who were associated with them.

search for the records, and told Brimberry that she hadn't found any records.

First of all, I knew that it was wrong. Secondly, I thought that he (Brimberry) was putting me in the middle between him and Junior," Miss Lissom said of her refusal to carry out the request.

During cross-examination, De Villiers asked her if Brimberry had told her to destroy any records she might have found.

"Tom Brimberry didn't ask you to destroy anything, did he?" De Villiers asked, and Miss Lissom replied, "No."

The trial, which charges Brimberry with three counts of obstructing justice by lying and trying to destroy records after a plea agreement with the government, is rapidly nearing an end. But it will be followed by another trial. In St. Louis, on other allegations against Brimberry.

Lincoln, Senior outdistance others in AA meet

By STEVE WHITWORTH

BELEVILLE — The East St. Louis Lincoln and East St. Louis Senior track teams ran away from the rest of the pack Friday in the Class AA Sectional at Belleville East High School.

The Tigers took top honors with 82 points; the Flyers came in second with 78. Edwardsville was a distant third with 27½; Cahokia was fourth with 22½; Mascoutah was fifth with 20; Alton was sixth with 17½; O'Fallon was seventh with 11½; Belleville West was eighth with nine points; Wood River and Granite City North shared ninth place with six points each; the host Stealers were eleventh with five and one-half points; Bethalto was twelfth with four points; Collinsville and Granite City South tied for thirteenth with two points apiece. Belleville Athol, Triad, Jerseyville and Roxana did not score.

The only qualifier from the Granite City schools was Jim Robertson of Granite City North. The Steeler runner finished second in the 3,200-meter run with a qualifying time of 9:42.3.

"It appears Jim is really coming on strong here at the end of the season," said Harry Lang, coach of the Stealers. "He was sick earlier in the year, but now he looks fully recovered. Today, he dropped 20 seconds off his previous best time of the year."

It will be the first trip to the state meet for Robertson, a junior. It wasn't an easy road for him.

"I had bronchitis for three weeks early in the season," he said. "It hurt my attitude for a while, but I guess the hard practices really helped. I think I came around at the conference meet last week."

Robertson decided to sit out the 1,600-meter run after he qualified in the 3,200 meters, his favorite event. "I think it's better now to concentrate on one event," he said.

Although he ran the first mile of the race in his second fastest time ever, Robertson struggled in the second half. "I was hurting all over," he said. "On that last lap, I just couldn't go."

The weather conditions were very favorable for the runners. It was a sunny afternoon with very little wind.

North's only other placing finish came in the 3,200-meter relay. A team of sophomores — Darren Bernaix, David Birkhead, Doug Limbaugh and Tom Keelin — came in fifth with a time of 8:38.2.

"It was an awful good effort for such a young group of guys," said Lang. In addition, several Stealer squads and individuals turned in their best times and performances of the year. Scott Cant, for example, cleared 6-2½ in the high jump, but he missed twice at that height in a tie-breaker and lost his chance to place.

"When we meet our personal bests, you can't complain," said Lang. "They did as well as they could and you can't ask for any more than that."

South, meanwhile, had only one placing finish and no Warrior qualified for the state meet. Ed Cowley turned in a time of 5:11 in the 400-meter dash, good for fourth place.

Cowley, who was seeded second in the event, was obviously disappointed. "I just came out of the last turn in good shape," said Dave McClain, coach of the Warriors. "Then he apparently tightened up all over. He's normally strong in the last 100 meters."

McClain was also disappointed in his team's overall performance. "The competition was strong," he admitted.

"If it's not Lincoln or East St. Louis that's running well, it's Edwardsville. But, a lot of our guys didn't do as well as they should have."

However, McClain mentioned several performers who equaled or bettered their best times of the season, including Jeff Hoese and D.D. Smith. Lincoln was impressive throughout the meet and looked ready to defend their state title. "They may find it harder to take this year than last," Lang warned. "But, they look good for about 30 points or so, and that should put them right in the running."

Banks finishes fourth in Class A 100 hurdles

By ROGER KRAMER

CHARLESTON — For the most part, luck has not shined on Madison hurdler Regina Banks at the Class A Girls Track State Finals.

During her freshman year, nervousness got to her as she had a false start during the 100 meter hurdles. As a sophomore last year, she had the best time in the preliminaries of the 200 meter hurdles. Nerves once again defeated Banks as she fell on a hurdle during the finals of the event.

This year appeared to be her year at the state finals which was held at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston. Banks, who had the second best district time in the 200 hurdles, was ill during the preliminaries and ran the race in 31.7 seconds, far from what was needed to qualify and her district time of 29.9 seconds.

Eventually, her luck had to catch up with her skills, and there was no better place for it than the 100 meter hurdles. Banks, who had the eighth best district time in that race, ran her best races of the year to finish fourth in the 100 hurdle and was the only Madison runner to place.

"I'll take fourth or fifth or sixth or seventh or eighth place," Banks said. "I just ran as hard as I could, and I was happy I finished as well as I did."

Last year, Banks finished second in the 100 hurdles after her disappointing finish in the 200 hurdles. Again, her disappointment in the 200 hurdles prompted her to do better things in the 100 hurdles.

Banks suffered from stomach pains prior to the 200 hurdle preliminaries and couldn't run her best race. However, she recovered in time for the 100 hurdles.

"I knew I had to do it in the 100 hurdles or we would all go home," Banks said. None of the Madison relay teams qualified for the finals.

In the preliminaries of the 100 hurdles, Banks finished second in 15.5 seconds and advanced to the semifinals. Banks knew had she not finished in the top for in the semifinals, the Trojanettes would have packed for home Friday night, so she finished second with 15.2 seconds, just a hair behind winner Jan Reichow of Monmouth.

The big test for Banks came Saturday, and nothing was going to deny her a fourth place. She wasn't ill, she wasn't nervous and she didn't fall down. She ran the finals in 15.9 seconds for fourth. Kristi Hildebrand of Stillman Valley won with 14.8 seconds, Reichow was second with 14.9 and Bridgett Cartwright of Chicago Luther South was third with 14.9.

Long thought part of the reason that Banks might have been ill for the 200 hurdles was that the Trojanettes came to the track early Friday.

"If the Class A was run first and we were sitting around all day, we might have been a little better off because we could have stayed inside a little longer," Long said.

Nevertheless, Long and the Trojanettes went home happy. "We were going home with our heads up high. We set five school records out of seven events. They all ran well, but the competition was a little too tough for them."

Two of the relay teams, the 400 and 800 relays, missed qualifying for the finals by three-tenths of a second. In the 400 relay, Madison ran in 51.3 seconds. Luther South, Mahomet-Seymour and Sherrard all ran their preliminaries in 51.0 seconds.

The 800 relay team ran its preliminary in 1:40.0. Princeton, the eighth best qualifier, ran the preliminary in 1:47.3.

FLYING FOR FOURTH. Madison's Regina Banks, center, clears a hurdle on the way to a second place finish a semifinal heat of the 100 meter hurdles during the Class A Girls Track Finals.

Madison's 400 relay team was Rose Clay, Glenetta Rhodes, Jowanna Dillon and Jerriann Ware. Rhodes, Dillon, Banks and Ware made up the 800 relay team.

The Trojanette 800 medley, Clay, Rhodes, Ware and Dorothy Noblin, ran the preliminary in 1:54.9, and Madison's 1600 relay, Noblin, Banks, Scott and Antoinette Compton, ran its preliminary in 4:13.6.

Rhodes qualified for the semifinals in the 100 meter dash with 13.0 seconds in the preliminary race. Rhodes ran the semifinal in 13.5 seconds and did not advance to the finals.

Other area athletes who placed at state included Debbie Wallace of Bunker Hill, who placed fourth in both the 100 and 200 meter dashes with times of 12.9 and 26.1 seconds respectively. Columbia's Cindy Stechmesser, who was the 1982 champion in the 200 hurdles, was fourth this year and fifth in the 200 meter dash.

Oilers win second consecutive tennis sectional

Menendez, Sheridan win doubles; advance to state

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

Granite City — The Wood River Granite City tennis team managed 22 points during the Granite City South Sectional Friday and Saturday, successfully defending its sectional championship of a year ago.

Granite City South was third with 16 points behind Alton, and the Stealers were fifth behind Marquette.

"Our guys played some good tennis this weekend, but part of it was the luck of the draw," said Oiler Coach Greg Moats. "We were lucky, our doubles teams drew people we could play with."

The Oilers may have had the "luck of the draw," but it didn't hurt their cause to have both of its singles players vying for the sectional singles championship. In short, the Oilers were in the best situation to accumulate team points.

The Oilers' Rick Kuehnle, second seed, defeated team-mate Brock Borman, the touney's top seed, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 to win the singles championship. Kuehnle is a junior. Teammate Borman is a senior.

Having both Brock and Rick in the singles finals made winning a little easier for us," said Moats. "We knew if they could make it through and our doubles team could win a couple matches, we'd have a good chance of winning again."

"That's just what happened. Wood River's two doubles team entries each picked up one victory, in the first round, before falling from competition. Those victories gave the Oilers eight points. Those points coupled with Kuehnle's and Borman's earnings were enough to edge out second place Alton by four points."

Wood River may have won the singles championship and the team title and Alton may have used consistent, balanced team play to finish second place on team points, but it was third place Granite City South which picked up the doubles championship.

South's John Menendez and Matt Sheridan, the tourney's top doubles seed, received a bye in the first round; defeated Marquette's Joe Daniel and Tim Stone 6-1, 6-2 in the second round; edged Alton's Tim Nesello and Tim Bramstedt 6-2, 7-5 in the third round; and then came from behind to down Marquette's other doubles team of Mike Walters and Tim Matthews 4-6, 7-5, 6-4 for the championship.

The Walters-Matthews duo was seeded second in the tourney while Alton's Nesello-Bramstedt was seeded fourth.

Granite City North's Jesse Byrd and Keith Glasgow were seeded third.

Warrior Coach Dick Harmon, happy with his players' doubles victory, gave a sign of relief after their match.

"They were easily the best doubles team in the tournament," Harmon said. "They made winning more difficult than it was."

The Warrior duo dashed to a 3-0 first set lead and then fell apart, losing the next five games, eventually losing the first set 4-6.

In the second set, South went ahead 1-0, then 3-2 and 5-2 before winning 7-5. Just as the first set had been a disaster for the Warriors, the third set was a nightmare for the Explorers.

In the third set, everything the Warriors hit seemed to fall in bounds, while Sheridan, said Walter's off-speed serve is what troubled the Warrior duo in the early going. After he and Sheridan became accustomed to the serve they began playing better.

Too, Menendez said, it helped after the two of them "got their heads together and stopped chopping at the ball."

Charlie Miles and Don Kaltmayer, South's other doubles team, picked up a 6-1, 6-1 first round match over Roxana's Bob Foleet and Chris Poyne, but lost in the second round to Walters and Matthews 6-2, 6-1.

Granite City North's doubles teams, Tony Watson and Don Warfield and Byrd and Glasgow didn't fare as well despite Byrd and Glasgow's third seed rating. For the Stealer's doubles teams there was one bad word: Alton. The Stealers were eliminated by the two Redbird entries.

Watson and Warfield were first round victims of Alton's Nesello and Bramstedt, while seeded Byrd and Glasgow fell to unseeded Tim Brooks and Shane Volland.

Nesello and Bramstedt downed the Stealer duo 6-0, 6-1, while the Byrd and Glasgow fell 2-6, 6-0, 6-4 to the duo.

Stealer Coach John Van Buskirk, who was hoping for a first state qualifier in North's final year, was disappointed with the losses.

"I thought we really had a chance to SERVE IT HOT. Granite City North's David Limes smashes this serve during Friday's Granite City South Sectional at the Wilson Park tennis courts. Third-seeded Limes lost to a higher seed during the two-day affair, but Granite City South's doubles team of John Menendez and Matt Sheridan went on to win the doubles championship.

Lewis Jumps 6-9

Trojans finish second in Anna Sectional meet

SKYWALKER. John Lewis of Madison High School had everything go right for him Friday at the Anna-Jonesboro Class A Sectional track meet, Lewis won the high jump with a jump of 6-9 and qualified for state in both the long jump and the triple jump. In all the Trojans will be represented in six events at the Class A Boys Track State Finals Friday and Saturday.

ANNA — If there were any doubts that Madison's John Lewis was still a "Skywalker," those doubts were silenced Friday at the Anna-Jonesboro Class A Boys Sectional track meet Friday.

After jumping 6-foot-8 in the high jump earlier in the season, Lewis slacked off and missed the last two weeks of the season with a bruised heel. However, Lewis came back strong to jump 6-9 to win the high jump and advance to the state finals Friday and Saturday at Eastern Illinois University at Charleston.

Lewis tripled his fun at the district by qualifying in the long jump and the triple jump as well as the high jump. In addition George Leonard qualified in the 300 meter low hurdles and Madison's 400 and 800 relays made qualifying times and advanced to state.

Madison's strong performance allowed the Trojans to tie the host Anna-Jonesboro for second place with 36 points. Cairo won the meet with 64 points.

Lewis was ready for the districts despite his injury. Chester's Alan Holbeck and Cairo's Kip Wright gave him a challenge up to 6-4, but Lewis met the challenge.

Wright was scratched at 6-4, the qualifying height, by his coach, and Holbeck, who had jumped 6-7 earlier this season, couldn't clear 6-6, leaving Lewis as the champion.

Madison assistance coach Al Collins recommended Lewis try for 6-10, but Lewis settled for 6-9 because of the other jumps he would take.

"I hope John's over his injury," Madison Coach Charles Steptoe said. "He's had it taped, and I'm hoping it's going to be strong enough to go what he has to at state."

According to Steptoe, two other Class A jumpers have high jumps, Tom Stitt of Lisle (6-11) and Dandy Broycie of Aledo (6-10).

In the long jump, Lewis finished second and edged teammate Elmer Collins out of the state finals. Lewis jumped 21-2½, while Collins jumped 21-¼. Wright won with 21-10½.

Lewis also took second in the triple jump with 43-7, and Wright easily won that event with 46-7.

George Leonard took second place in the 300 low hurdles with 39.89 seconds. The winning time in that event was 39.48.

Despite third place finishes, both the 400 and 800 relay teams qualified because they made Class A qualifying times. The 400 relay, Rouzell Porter, Leroy Latham, Leonard and Shawn Brown, ran the relay in 44.37 seconds. Qualifying time was 44.5 seconds.

The 800 relay, Santos Howard, Derrick Jackson, Leonard and Brown, ran that relay in 1:32.47, just a one-hundredth under the qualifying time for that relay.

Other Trojans who placed but did not qualify were Brown, who finished third in both the 100 meters (11.17) and the 200 meters (23.17), Charles Fuller, who finished fifth in the 400 meters with 32.84 seconds, and the 1600 relay, which finished fourth with 3:35.87.

The 1600 relay, Howard, Maurice Silas, DeLeon Young and Fuller, ran its best time of the year.

Despite having two severely sprained ankles, Brian Papa went 12-0 in the pole vault and finished seventh. Although he jumped the same heights as the fourth and fifth finishers, he had more misses and did not score for Madison.

Trojanette pitching falters; Steelerettes win

MADISON — Something happened to the Madison Trojanettes last Thursday after the first inning of their game with Granite City North's Steelerettes.

The Trojanettes quit playing. The end result was a 21-15 loss to the Steelerettes.

Madison exploded in the early going with a five-hit six-run first inning. After that, scoring for Madison was more difficult.

"I don't know how to explain it," Madison Coach Carol Cole said. "We can be breezing along, and then the of the second inning. It was in the third inning, however, when things began to sour for Madison and North began to make a run at their neighbors to the south.

To start the third inning, North's second baseman Kathy Hutchings, reached on an error by shortstop Kim Stanley, and then advanced to second on the errant throw.

Lisa Lilly received a pass and then Kim Mushill reached when Madison's pitcher Lisa Prothro dropped a fly ball which loaded the bases.

Madison managed to get its first run of the game when Prothro issued a pass to Cindy Minner, scoring Hutchings.

North's Leigh Ann Fanning grounded out to Prothro who threw home to force

Monica Fanning managed to score

Mushill on a fielder's choice, but was put out at first base. Trailing 8-2, Morgan grounded to third base to score Minner. The Trojanettes' attempt to throw out Jill Werth at second on the play was late and again the bases were loaded.

Lead-off batter Michelle Loftus was caught looking at a third strike to end the rally and retire the Steelerettes.

Madison managed to pick one run in its half of the third as Lisa Prothro

"Our pitching has been a problem all year," Cole said. "This type of game is definitely a pitcher's game. If you don't have pitching, winning is difficult."

That was the case Thursday. The Trojanette pitching game fell apart.

Madison's four pitchers gave up 10 hits, which isn't too bad a showing, but what did them in was the 24 walks issued during the seven-inning contest.

Meanwhile, Granite City's Michelle

Morgan, who went the distance for the Steelerettes, allowed just nine hits and walked half as many, 12.

Warriors, Steelers split weekend doubleheaders

Both Granite City North and Granite City South split double-headers Saturday.

South, against East Peoria, dropped the first of the twihs to the Raiders 5-3. In the second game, the Warriors came out on top, winning 4-3.

The Raiders managed four runs in the third, two unearned, and another in the sixth.

The Warriors picked up their runs in the fifth and sixth innings. Tom Newton picked up the RBI in the fifth.

In the Warrior sixth inning, Jim

Moulden, after being hit with a pitch, was credited with the RBI. The other

Warrior run scored with a bases-loaded error.

For the Warriors, Newton went the distance, giving up six hits, one walk and accumulating three strikeouts.

In the second game, the Warriors' Mark

Vanyo relieved starter Bob

Dietrich who went 1 and one-third innings. Dietrich was charged with all three Raider runs in the second inning.

The Warriors managed two runs in the first with RBIs by Vince Mitchell and John Linhart and two runs in the fourth.

In the fourth inning, sophomore Scott

Grote singled and scored when Linhart tripled. Adamitis, who was two-forthree in the game batted in Linhart for the Warriors second run of the inning.

Vanyo picked up the win, allowing two hits, one walk, no runs while striking out six. The Warriors are 11-17 on the season.

Warrior Coach John Modica said

although the teams were evenly matched, the Warriors should have won both games.

GRANITE CITY 5, O'FALLON 9

Saturday's rescheduled doubleheader from last weekend against O'Fallon resulted in a pair of shutouts.

In the first contest, O'Fallon, rated one of the best teams in the area, outmuscled the Steelers 10-0 and allowed the Granite City nine just two hits.

In the second game, rules were reversed as the Steelers' Dan Whitsell pitched a no-hitter against the Panthers.

Whitsell was aided by a nine-hit performance. For North, Daren DePew was 2-for-4, Kevin Patterson 2-for-3 and Keith Coakley who was also 2-for-3 with a home run.

Thursday, in a non-conference game, the Steelers defeated Roxana 4-3. The Steelers scattered 11 hits and improved its season record to 17-7.

Tigers blank Trojan hurlers

DUPO — The Madison Trojans dipped below the .333 mark Thursday and in the process were eliminated by Dupo in the Class A Freeburg baseball Regional.

The Trojans defeated the Tigers 10-0 in five innings. The loss closes the book on Madison's baseball season. Ron Crader's squad was 2-11 on the season.

Dupo only outlast the Trojans 4-3, but seven errors and eight walks issued by Madison pitching did them in.

The Tigers jumped out in front in the first inning scoring one, then managed four in the third, three in the fourth and two in the fifth.

Brandt, Wiser happy with first state meet results

GETTING LEVERAGE. Debbie Brandt, Granite City North's only representative at the Class AA Girls Track Meet, prepares to release the discus during Friday's preliminary rounds of the event. Brandt had her second best throw of the season but failed to make the finals.

CHARLESTON — Granite City North's Debbie Brandt and Granite City South's distance runner Lora Wiser both made their first appearances at the Class AA Girls State Finals this weekend at Eastern Illinois University.

Both would have been happier with better performances, but that didn't keep their coaches from being pleased with them. Neither finished in the top eight places, but both finished in the top half in their events.

Meanwhile, Collinsville's Pam Quarengi finished second in the 1600 meter run as she did last year. East St. Louis Lincoln won the team title for the fifth time in the six-year history of the Class AA meet with 71 points. East St. Louis was second with 59 points, and Chicago South Shore was third with 51 points.

After the district meet, Brandt appeared to have the best chance of the two Granite City athletes to place. Brandt had the ninth best throw, 115-10, going into the state finals. However, the power throwers took over in Friday's preliminary rounds.

Brandt, a sophomore who relies mostly on technique to get distance, had her second best throw of the year, 114-10 which was the 15th best throw. She was simply outmuscled by the power throwers.

The most powerful of the power throwers was Lincoln's Toni Wallace. On her first throw Friday, Wallace threw the discus 151-11 for a new Class AA and Illinois High School Association record. That throw won the event.

Wallace also set Class AA and IHSA records in the shot put with a 46-5 throw for her second championship in this year's meet. Wallace is a senior.

Edwardsville's Theresa Johnson, who finished behind Brandt at the district meet, took eighth in the finals with a throw of 124-3.

"I'm not disappointed at all with Debbie's effort," North Coach Harry Leung said. "That was her best effort without a wind. If the wind was blowing, that would have helped her more where it might have hurt others.

"The horses just came in there and threw. She just doesn't have the bulk and size of the other girls in the discus. She competed very hard," Leung said.

Wiser didn't have a preliminary in the 3200 meter run Friday, so she didn't have to run until Saturday morning.

Wiser, a freshman, was a long shot to place, but she did her best to stay with the leaders as long as she could. Her time was 11:21.9, far off the pace set by winner Melissa Straza, a freshman from Urbana who set a new Class AA and IHSA record with 10:22.5. However, Wiser did cut 2.6 seconds off her district time in the 3200 meters.

"I was really pleased with her performance," said South assistant coach Paul Greve. "She ran with the best and did quite well herself. There's no doubt she can make the top eight next year. I think it's something to make the top 17 your freshman year."

Later in Saturday's finals, Straza set a second record, this time in the 1600 meters. Straza ran that race in 4:51.5, but Quarengi gave Straza a challenge, finishing with 4:53.0.

Straza led for the entire race, but Quarengi caught up with her on the start of the fourth lap before Straza pulled away. Lincoln helped itself in the finals by winning both the 400 and the 1600 relay and finishing second in the 800 relay. Lincoln's 1600 victory was also a state record.

Roxana eliminates Warriors from post-season

By STEVE WHITWORTH
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The softball Warriors of Granite City South lost to Roxana in the first-round game of the Granite City North Regional played at Wilson Park Saturday.

The Shells scored in every inning to defeat the Warriors 13-5. Roxana pitcher Dee Adams gave up just three hits to hold South in check.

Most of Roxana's runs came in on Warrior miscues: errors, wild pitches and passed balls. For their part, the Shells played tight defense, led by shortstop Debbie Allison.

South jumped into the lead in the top of the first when shortstop Vicki Smith tripled home left fielder Kathy Juhász, and third baseman Anne Puhse. The lead, however, did not last long.

"I think that maybe we let up a little after those first two runs," said Pat Yates, coach of the Warriors.

The Shells began their comeback in the bottom of the first when third baseman Krissey Vinyard scored on a passed ball. They took the lead in the second inning when designated hitter Kristi Sheff scored on an error and center fielder Tasha Hamm came home on a wild pitch.

Sheff tripled to drive in Allison and catcher Lisa Shaw in the third. Roxana led 5-3 after three innings.

South got two more runs in the fourth without the benefit of a hit when center fielder Karen Sykes and first baseman Bibi Christoff both reached on errors to lead off the inning. Sykes scored on catcher Dottie Smith's ground out and Christoff came across on a wild pitch.

But, Roxana kept the pressure on with two runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth. With Adams pitching well and Allison sparkling in the field, South was held hitless from the second inning until the seventh.

Roxana added three more runs in the sixth. Warrior right fielder Theresa Soellner's RBI single in the seventh was too little, too late.

"I thought we'd have a better game than we did," Yates said. "We've been having trouble with the bats, but we usually have better defense than we did today. Our defense was as tight as normal is."

Adams walked six and struck out five Warriors, but only gave up three hits. That stungness was due, in great part, to Allison, who robbed South of several hits and took charge on the infield.

Yates had praise for the Shell shortstop. "She played well and when she robbed a couple of our hitters, it seemed to take something out of us," she said.

Kenny Schrader of Fenton, Mo., returned from the Indianapolis 500 time trials to take the opening Late Model Stock Car race of the "Busch" 1983 Series at Tri-City Speedway Thursday night.

Schrader set a new track record of 23.945 seconds for the "Busch" Series in his 1983 Mustang — Stig and Go — Goodyear sponsored car. Schrader started first row outside of first Mike Wallace of Arnold, Mo., in his 1963 Firebird. Wallace and Schrader battled for the first lap lead with Schrader taking first spot and Wallace, Ed Dixon of Washington, Mo., Ed Kneebie of Jefferson City, Mo., and Gary Webb of Davenport, Iowa, in hot pursuit.

Ronnie Hoover of Fulton, Mo., spun in the first lap and backed into the light pole.

Wallace clipped the outside guardrail in turn three while trying to pass

Schrader on lap four, but later went out with engine problems on lap 10.

Herb Shannon of Hanna City, Ill., ran nose to tail with Schrader but had to settle for second place with Gary Webb in third.

Schrader was met in Victory Lane by Miss Karen Myracle, Tri-City Speedway trophy queen, with a large trophy and engraved plaque as well as a Busch "T" shirt.

To assure that the trip is a financial success, the team is requesting donations to help defray the cost to parents.

Persons wishing to contribute, may make checks payable to the Granite City Steeler Soccer Team and mail them to Michael R. Vincent (coach), 2425 Benton Street, Granite City.

Buehler to ump IHSA baseball state tourney

Granite City North's assistant principal, Vic Buehler, has been selected as one of four umpires to "call" the Class A state finale. It's the third time in four years that Buehler has been asked to ump the state finals.

City, cable go back to beginning...again

Granite City and South-Western Cable TV, Inc. are back at the bargaining table for another round of negotiations to decide what percentage of cable revenue the city is due and how much of a subscriber increase the city will allow.

South-Western, Manager David K. Olson formally approached aldermen last week about a $2 rate increase in the basic cable fee. The cable firm has been unsuccessful in rate negotiations with the city since December, 1981. The city regulates the basic rate fees through its appearance franchise. Olson's appearance was an attempt to speed up the slow negotiations process.

Past rate increase requests have varied from a $1 monthly increase to a $2 increase staggered over several months. Tuesday night's request was for an immediate $2 increase with $1 of that increase retroactive to April 1. The council has twice voted against the cable firm's rate requests.

In an effort to free itself from city's hold on rate increases, Olson proposed Granite City immediately give up its right to regulate cable rates and, in return, South-Western would pay the city 3 percent of all its revenues as soon as the $2 monthly increase is in effect. The raise would increase the monthly basic fee from $7 to $9.

According to Olson, the rate increase will not keep the cable company in line with its own increased expenses.

Although senior citizens were to be excluded from any such increases, based on past negotiations, Olson said, with the reopening of talks, that waiver has yet to be accepted by South-Western.

Mayor Paul Schuler and the cable company have been embroiled in a recent debate about a $1 increase which already has been included on residents' cable bills. Olson defended the action of the company to put the additional charge on bills since April, because it had been his understanding that the council had approved such an increase.

"We thought everything legislative had been taken care of," Olson told the council members.

The council had authorized the mayor to enter into an agreement to approve the $1 increase, but disapproved the raise when it came before the council in the form of an ordinance.

If the city accepts South-Western's proposal, it will receive about $25,000 in yearly revenue from the cable company. Currently, the city receives 3 percent of the revenues generated from basic cable fee or about $1,080 monthly collected from the city's 5,330 subscribers. About 700 of those viewers are senior citizens.

Mayor Paul Schuler registered two complaints with the cable representative. He said the city had been promised orally that no other city would receive a greater revenue percentage than Granite City, which is no longer true, and that the city's local studio would include a full-time technical assistant and local productions. "I'm quite disappointed in what we were told was going to happen and what has happened," the mayor told Olson.

The aldermen did not act immediately on South-Western's proposal, as the cable company had hoped, but, instead, referred the matter for more study by the city's long-standing ad hoc cable committee.

SCHROEDER ENDS COMBAT TRAINING
 Specialist Four Kenneth R. Schroeder, son of Dorothy L. Schroeder of Chester, Ill., and Donald L. Schroeder of 2949 State St., Granite City, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training. The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman. Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

LAWYER FILES SUIT TO RECEIVE MONEY
 A Granite City lawyer has filed suit against a former client, alleging the man failed to pay for services. The three-count suit, filed in the Third Judicial Circuit Court in Edwardsville, claims that Bill T. Walker is owed $52,725 for services between December, 1982, and April, 1983, rendered to Frank Renick of Renick Industries, Inc.

The case, which also names as a defendant Charlene M. Renick, has been assigned to Circuit Judge William Johnson.

Man says dogs caused accident

A man who claims that two beagles ran out in front of him as he was driving his motorcycle on Route 162 and caused him to have a serious accident has filed suit against the owners of the dogs.

James L. Babbs alleges in the three-count lawsuit that he avoided hitting one beagle owned by Leo and Fanny Kamadulski, who live on Route 162, but struck the other beagle, which became caught on the motorcycle.

The accident occurred Sept. 8, 1982, at about 2:15 p.m. as Babbs was traveling west on Route 162 about one mile from the Route 111 junction.

The motorcycle, flipped over when Babbs struck the second dog, throwing the man to the pavement, the suit says.

The second count claims that the Kamadulskis were negligent because they did not control the dogs, keep them from roaming off their property or properly train the beagles.

Because of the accident, Babbs said he suffered extensive internal and external injuries including fractures to his right shoulder and rib cage. He also suffered from nervous shock and pain, the suit says.

The injuries caused Babbs to suffer "great disability and disfigurement" and loss of wages and earning capacity, he contends.

While enroute to a hospital in St. Louis, a Campbell Ambulance that was transporting him collided with a rental truck, "complicating and exacerbating" Babbs' existing injuries, the suit says.

He is seeking in excess of $15,000 plus medical expenses, costs and interest.

The third count of the suit cites the state Animal Control Act and says, "If a dog or other animal without provocation, attacks or injures any person who is peaceably conducting himself in any place where he may lawfully be, the owner of such dog or other animal is liable for damages to such a person for the full amount of the injury sustained."

The suit further contends that a German shepherd owned by the defendants also had been struck by a vehicle near the site of Babbs' accident.

The case, filed in the Third Judicial Circuit Court in Edwardsville, has not been assigned to a judge.

PEO Chapter Ku meets

The PEO Chapter KU heard a program given by Fay Carlisle when the group met recently at the home of Mary McCarty of St. Louis. Fifteen members were present.

Ruth Ann Bartels conducted the business meeting. A pre-planning session was held to discuss the Oct. 19 meeting, when KU will host 24 PEO Chapters and current and past state officers from the surrounding area.

Mrs. Bartels will be a delegate to the 81st Convention of the Illinois State Chapter of the PEO. The meeting will be held at the assistance for Illinois veterans. Chapter 53 plans to continue to support the project.

"The DAV believes that employment keeps the body and mind active and is essential to life," Gitchoff said. "It provides dollars that are spent to maintain a healthy economy and it provides tax dollars to operate the government." Lunch for the meeting was provided by Joe Grobelink.

Others present were Mary Ann Cochran, Marie Gordon, Burdine Holzacher, Gerry Jackson, Marie Klein, Geneva Miller, Verna Stuart, Marian Skinner and Hannah Kleinschmidt.

Venice Council denies school plea for parking restrictions

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

A controversy between the Venice City Council and the Venice Board of Education was resolved at last week's council meeting, but not to the school board's satisfaction.

The dispute involves the lifting of parking restrictions on the west side of Seventh Street, adjacent to the high school entrance, where school buses are parked most of the day and crosswalks are located for school children.

Problems started when a building permit was authorized at the April 5 meeting to Lemmi Johnson Sr., 1319 Oriole St., to construct a four-family apartment building at Seventh Street and Broadway.

Although the address is 640 Broadway, the $57,000 brick building fronts Seventh Street. Construction is well underway.

Earlier, Johnson had sought permission for parking rights on Broadway during the construction phase, a request which was denied.

He then asked for the repeal of an ordinance which prohibited all parking on the west side of Seventh Street between Washington and Broadway, the block that fronts the apartment dwelling and high school.

The ordinance rescinding parking restrictions was adopted Tuesday night by the aldermen on first reading.

In a letter to Mayor Tyrone Echols and the city council, read earlier, George W. Wade Jr., Venice School Board secretary, wrote of the board's concern for possible hazards to students if on-street parking is allowed on Seventh Street. The letter also notes that residents of the new building apparently would have no place to park and states:

"As you are aware, the district's buses must park, pick up and discharge students on the side of Seventh Street that is next to Venice High School. It is the board's feeling that parked cars on the opposite side of the street would:

"Seriously restrict the operating space on Seventh Street between Washington and Broadway, the block that fronts the apartment dwelling and high school.

"This restriction of operating space will create a greater potential hazard for motorists if students dart from behind parked cars.

"Vehicles turning into Broadway from Seventh Street, or into Seventh Street from Broadway, will have limited maneuverability and visibility on Seventh Street between Venice High School and the new building, thus creating additional hazards.

"The board knows that the mayor and council members share our concern about the safety of children and we therefore urge your careful study of all potential hazards before rendering any decision that would change the existing ordinances which govern parking on Seventh Street, opposite Venice High School."

"Let me explain what the situation is," Mayor Echols said, commenting on the issue. "There is nothing in the state statutes that disallows parking on the west side of Seventh Street, a point that was raised earlier and which the city attorney was asked to check."

The mayor asked about school bus routes and was advised the Eagle Park and Madison buses travel west on Broadway and turn left into Seventh Street.

"I see no problem really," the mayor said. "The only place congestion may occur will be any buses coming off the school grounds and making a right toward Broadway, but there should be ample room for a bus to turn."

Looking at the apartment developer, who was in the audience, Mayor Echols commented, "I'll say this to Mr. Johnson, this (ordinance repeal) may not resolve your problem. Students and people working there may take the parking places. I am being sympathetic to a gentleman who is putting up a tax-base structure," he added.

Prior to adoption of the ordinance, the mayor asked for discussion from the council, but none was offered.

Some questions were raised about drivers parking on crosswalks and in other no-parking locations and it was noted that police will be asked to check the area for illegally-parked vehicles.

Immediately after the meeting, Wilbur Glasper, president of the Venice School Board, who was at the council session, expressed dismay at the council's action and commented, "We have only one school in Venice and that goes from kindergarten to 12th grade. I believe what they did was wrong and this will create a hazardous situation for our children."

A second ordinance, which repealed parking restrictions on the south side of Market Street from Weaver to Mercedia Streets, also was adopted by the council.

SPECIAL GIFT. A layette and a bouquet of spring flowers are presented to Mrs. Charlene Riggins, left, and baby Emily Kay for being the first baby born on Mother's Day at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The gifts, presented by Elizabeth Gramates, OB supervisor, also are in observance of National Hospital Week. Emily Kay weighed 6 pounds, 13 ounces, and was the first child for the Riggins, who reside on Lake Drive in Pontoon Beach. Mrs. Riggins is a unit secretary in the Intensive Care Unit of SEMC and her husband, John, is an electrician.

Tony Elliott is SEMC's Associate of the year

Tony Elliott was named St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Associate of the Year at the medical center's annual employee banquet held last night at the Missouri Athletic Club in St. Louis.

The Associate of the Year Award is sponsored by the Glik family, owners of the Glik Department Stores. The Glik family donated the $1,000 cash prize awarded to each year's winner.

Tony is known to many Quad-City residents as the man who drives the SEMC Mobile Meals van. In the years that he has been delivering meals to those unable to prepare meals for themselves, he has made many friends.

Sister Stephanie of SEMC's Stroke Rehab Unit describes the special relationship Tony has with the people he serves. "On Christmas Day, the medical center hosted a dinner for the Mobile Meals recipients. As the people arrived, they seemed somewhat apprehensive about the whole affair until they caught sight of Tony, who gave part of his Christmas, his day off, to be here to help them celebrate," Sister says.

During the dinner, many people explained how Tony has helped them with small repairs in their homes when he came to deliver meals. "It's been obvious from observing and listening, that Tony is very special to these people and they to him," Sister Stephanie says.

Sister Mary Thomas, medical center president, accompanied Tony on his Christmas, his day off, rounds one snowy Thanksgiving Day, delivering dinners. "I was terribly impressed by his concern for each person," she says.

"One recipient could not speak English, there were others who were black, Hispanic, and some who were very poor, but all received the same respect and reverence for their dignity that we have upheld as the philosophy of St. Elizabeth Medical Center."

Sister Thomas also points out that although some mobile meals programs cancel deliveries when the weather is bad, Tony has kept SEMC's program on the rain or shine. "It is a rare exception when the Mobile Meals Program has been cancelled because of the weather," she says.

"Tony is a gentleman in all he does," Sister Thomas continues. "He has truly put the philosophy of this institution on wheels and I feel that he very much deserves the Glik Family Associate of the Year Award."

Couple files suit against UE

A Granite City couple has filed suit against Union Electric Co., alleging that the utility willfully failed to retrieve electrical wires that had fallen on the plaintiff's property.

Harry and Marilyn Deatherage, contend in the three-count lawsuit that a large tree fell on top of UE high-voltage electrical lines on an easement of their property during a severe windstorm in July of 1981.

Several hundred feet of electrical wires fell to the ground when the tree fell, severing power lines in several places and a tower that supported the lines also fell, the suit says.

The next day, Deatherage contacted UE, but the lines were not removed, the suit claims, which denied the plaintiff the "right to unrestricted use" of his land for agricultural purposes.

The first count calls for $5,000 plus costs.

The second count claims that the Deatherages were subjected to a "unreasonable risk of harm" because they could not determine if the fallen lines were transmitting electricity.

Nobody else could determine such either, which placed the Deatherages in a negligible position if someone were to be electrocuted on their property, the suit claims.

Punitive and exemplary damages of $25,000 are sought in the second count because UE's failure to remove the lines was "willful, wanton and malicious," the suit says.

Filed in the Third Judicial Circuit Court, the case has not been assigned to a judge.

TACKLE BOX GONE
A tackle box containing assorted fishing gear and a syringe of insulin, valued at $250, was stolen from the front yard of the home of Velma Boner, 2604 W. 20th St., she reported last week.

Warning on shipping fuel

A coordinated attack on illegal transportation of gasoline and other volatile fuels has been launched by the Office of the State Fire Marshal, the Illinois State Police and the Illinois Petroleum Marketers Association (IPMA).

Reports have been increasing lately on dangerous practices by some service station operators, who are said to be allowing customers to fill large containers on the beds of their trucks or filling these containers themselves.

"There has been at least one incident of one of these illegally filled tanks falling out of a truck bed onto the public highway," Jack H. Carter, state fire marshal, said last week. "Fortunately, no one was injured or killed in that particular incident."

"If this illegal practice continues, it is only a matter of time before a tragedy will strike a bus full of children, or some family traveling along the highway when one of these illegal tanks either leaks or is separated from the vehicle."

The fire marshal has the authority to withdraw the permits of self-service gasoline stations that engage in this practice. State police say they will be watching for motoring violators during their patrols. The IPMA already has notified all member service stations of the law and its consequences.

Current rules limit the amount of gasoline to six gallons that can be carried in a portable container other than a tank connected to the carburetor system of a vehicle.

This limit has been established to preclude transportation of large quantities in unapproved tanks and containers.

Reports received by authorities are of containers of up to 500 gallons being used to transport gasoline and other fuels along Illinois highways.

"These containers most frequently are either 55-gallon drums or tanks originally intended for some other use."

"They are being put onto the backs of trucks and may not be held in place by chains, cables, ropes, etc. Some of these tanks are blocked into place by wooden blocks on the truck bed and some are not. In any event, the practice is illegal and dangerous," Carter said.

"We hope the public will obey the law," Carter said, "and refuse to participate in such practices. We also hope the entire petroleum industry will continue to cooperate and avoid the legal and safety risks of violations of regulations designed to protect the public from misuse of highly flammable fuels."

Open registration is scheduled Wednesday from 2 until 7 p.m. and June 15 from 8:30 a.m. until 7 p.m.

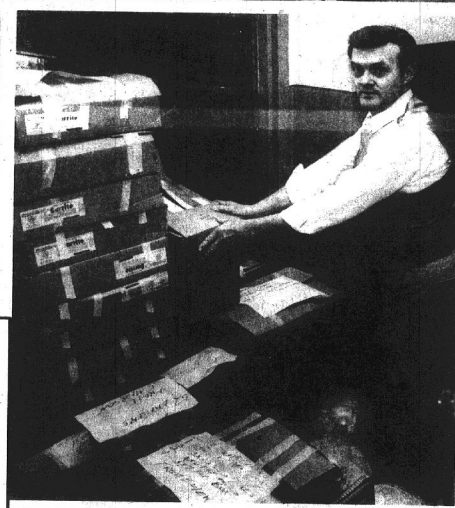

All registration activities will be in Meridian Ballroom in the University Center. Beginning with summer quarter, mandatory advisement for all students attending the university will be required before they register for classes. To register, students must submit a course request form (CRF) that has been signed by the adviser, indicating what courses they will be pursuing during the quarter. These forms are available only from the student's adviser.

To see an adviser, undergraduate students who have declared majors should contact their academic units. Those who have not yet declared a major should contact their assigned advisers, and non-degree students should contact the Office of Academic Advisement (located in Rendleman 1310) at 1-692-2342.

Graduate students should contact their academic units if they have been admitted into a graduate program. If their status is either "classification pending" or "unclassified," they should contact the Graduate Admissions and Records Office at (618) 692-3160 (located in Rendleman 2215) for directions.

Additional information concerning admission policies, class schedules, or registration activities may be obtained by contacting the SIUE Office of Admissions and Records.

"Mom" Turner wants her vision to continue

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Ada Turner pulls a Bible from the upper left drawer of her desk and opens it to Matthew, turning the worn pages carefully, sacred as they are to her. As she reads the verse, her left index finger follows the words.

"Naked and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison and ye came unto me," she quotes from Matthew 25:36.

"Taking off her glasses, she smiles her huge, gold-toothed smile and says nothing, the Scripture says it all. Several times, Mrs. Turner, who affectionately is called "Mom" or "Mother" by those fortunate enough to experience her love, opens the drawer and brings out the Bible, which has no front or back cover, and finds a verse to support her words. The first 20 or so pages are curled down at the right corner.

It is, she says, her "old Bible" which she keeps in her desk at the Madison County Prison League office, 306 Broadway, Venice, where she works as a senior aide through the Belleville Area College program. Mrs. Turner also is the founder and president of the Prison Outreach Group, which works with juveniles, inmates and ex-inmates, mostly at Menard Correctional Center in Chester, Ill.

Twenty years ago, on Sept. 1, 1963, she started the group with very little money. While the financial situation has not drastically improved, the group survives through Mrs. Turner's devotion.

For several years, she tried to get federal funding for the group, but was told time and again that funds were not available for such a program. So, she gave up on such assistance and now the group operates through private donations.

Proudly, she says, the group has acquired its own bus for traveling to Chester the first Sunday of each month to visit prisoners, taking them small gifts and food and conducting religious services.

Since the group's beginning, Mrs. Turner estimates she has worked with 10,000 to 15,000 prisoners, juveniles and ex-inmates. It all started as she was working with young people at the Lovejoy Temple Church of God in Christ.

Mrs. Turner decided it would be good for youngsters to see the inside of prison, to know what it was like, to understand the situation in which they could end up by committing a crime. The plan worked.

One of Mrs. Turner's primary concerns is working with juveniles to prevent crime. She goes to poolrooms and street corners to talk to juveniles.

"I try to encourage them to go back to school," she says. Staying in school can "avoid problems later," she contends.

Parents also are encouraged to make certain their children attend school. "Some parents show interest," she says, but the problem is that most of the youths she deals with come from one-parent homes.

Such a family situation makes it difficult for the parent to trace every step the child makes, and often Mrs. Turner has found that parents simply are not involved in many aspects of their children's lives.

Most would blame the parent for a seeming lack of concern, but Mrs. Turner says she cannot find fault. Raised by an aunt after her mother died when she was less than 2 years old, she can understand the problems attendant with a one-parent family.

"The mother can't take the place of the father and the father can't take the place of the mother," she says.

Her husband, Adam T. Turner, was raised by his grandparents after his father died when he was young. When they married 47 years ago — she was 15, he 19 — they promised each other they would always stay together for the benefit of their children.

Two years later, their first son was born and 13 siblings followed. All of them, she says, finished high school and most of them went on to college. Mrs. Turner takes photographs off the wall behind her desk and proudly shows off her family. The Turner family is close and happy, the marriage has obviously been a good one, but Mrs. Turner is concerned with those less fortunate.

She meets a lot of bitter children. "All they want is for somebody to reach out and say 'I love you,'" she says, holding out her arms.

"Divorce tears a child a part. The mother goes her selfish way. The father goes his selfish way. The child is bitter because they think nobody loves them. I show love, you prove love," she says.

Those bitter children often become criminals — some sooner than others because they believe nobody is concerned, because they have not pursued their education, because they have nothing better to do with their time.

At that point, after a crime has been committed, Mrs. Turner finds it can be difficult to reach the person, to prove that someone cares. In her counseling and work with prisoners, Mrs. Turner tries to teach them religion, which is a vital part of her life. Sometimes, the prisoners will accept Christ in their lives, other times they completely reject religion. Whatever the prisoner chooses, Mrs. Turner accepts as his decision.

But the ones who accept religion, she says, become changed men. A man who was sentenced to 500 years in prison for murder was paroled from Menard after the State Board of Corrections found him to be rehabilitated. He works now in East St. Louis and has not had any problems, nor does Mrs. Turner anticipate he will be a repeat offender.

Another former inmate recently was married at the Lovejoy Temple to "a beautiful girl" and Mrs. Turner says he has become a model citizen.

"There are a lot of good men in prison. They just need a chance," she says.

Those who do repeat crimes, or fall astray, are admonished by "Mom." She shakes her finger at an imaginary offender and repeats what she tells them — "shame on you." While it hurts to see an ex-inmate or juvenile continue to have problems, it is up to them to correct their lives, Mrs. Turner says.

"I believe they should be punished for the wrong," she says.

Yet, she places no blame, except to indicate that divorce and broken homes are clearly responsible, in her opinion, for many criminals.

"I'm 100 percent against divorce," she says. Couples do not make enough effort to work out problems, she contends and, instead, allow their marriages to fall apart at the slightest provocation. "It isn't working, let's get a divorce," she says of the attitude problem she finds and shakes her head.

The idea that many of those who commit crimes do so because of the low income of their families is false, in Mrs. Turner's opinion. She and her husband raised 14 children and because of the size of the family there was not much money.

"I had to do without," she says. Mrs. Turner also worked part-time to supplement her husband's income. Raising 14 children — eight sons and six daughters — was a great sacrifice," she says, but adds, "the Lord blessed us."

The Lord also gave her a mission in life, she says. It came in the form of the Prison Outreach Group. There is no doubt in her mind that she is intended to work with juveniles and prisoners.

There were "signs" in her life, she says, telling her what to do and the signs came from God. "I know this is God's will. It's been proven too many times without a shadow of a doubt," she says softly, but with great conviction.

"I try to stress that your life can be down and Jesus can pick up the pieces. God doesn't want to destroy people. He doesn't want to see nobody lost," she says.

"Hell is too hot a place and eternity too long a time," she tells prisoners, juveniles and ex-inmates.

This is a crucial time, she explains. Christ will come again soon, making her mission all the more important, because so little time is left.

While she will continue work with the Prison Outreach Group, as long as her health permits, her hope is that someone else will carry on when she is gone.

"I hope that after I close my eyes, someone will continue my vision," she says.

Part of that vision is as yet unfulfilled. Mrs. Turner would like to open a halfway house on Logan Street that would be a home for six to eight ex-inmates or juveniles, until they can find jobs and get out on their own.

Tax deductible donations, she said, can be sent to 1221 Logan St., Madison, Ill., 62206. Checks should be made payable to the Prison Outreach Group.

In addition to accepting donations, the group each year has a fund-raising dinner. Mrs. Turner said that a variety of local people help with that event, including Madison Alderman Don Garrett, Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols, the Rev. Nathaniel Johnson, Henry Bauman and Brooklyn Mayor Marcellus West. She also said she is grateful to Marilyn Simpson, director of the Belleville Area College senior aides program.

Mrs. Turner seems apt to give thanks to all those who help her in even the slightest way. Recently, she was honored by the Madison County Prison League for her work with prisoners and she also was given a plaque on April 30 from her children.

Holding up the plaque, Mrs. Turner smiles. Again, the words say it all. Beneath a family picture, the plaque quotes Proverbs 31:31: "She is the fruit of her hands; and let her own works praise her in the gates."

FEMALE SEXUALITY WORKSHOP IN JUNE
"Feminist Perspectives on Female Sexuality" is the title of a two-week workshop to be offered this summer at SIUE, from June 20 to July 1, Monday through Friday from 1 to 4:35 p.m.

Sheila Ruth, associate professor in the department of philosophy, said the course will consider society's attitudes toward women's sexuality and the effects on women and men. Other topics will include sex and its relationship to love, the origins of social thinking on female sexuality, and ways women view their bodies. The workshop carries four credit hours in the Women's Studies Program.

"A person should report giving or selling property he or she owns. A person should also report if he or she buys or is given something of value. This also includes changes in bank accounts the person's name is on, even if someone else puts in the money. And report any changes in property or bank accounts for any others in the household."

"Reports can be made in person, by telephone, or by mail. All reports should include the person's name and Social Security claim number, the change being reported, the date it happened, and the person's signature and address if the report is by mail."

More information about reports can be obtained at the East St. Louis Social Security office, 650 Missouri Ave., East St. Louis 62201. The telephone number is 274-4100 or toll free by dialing the operator and asking for Enterprise 1-865.

Judge appeals for more room

Madison County Associate Judge Thomas E. Hildebrand appealed his case for a "decent" Granite City courtroom in a special appearance before the city council Tuesday.

The judge claims his courtroom on the first floor of the city hall has space for only 30 persons, not nearly enough room to hold the prosecution of lawyers, police officers, defendants and family members that frequent it. The overflow currently spills out into the city hall corridors.

"They drift into the city clerk's office," Hildebrand said. "They just pile everywhere."

The judge wants a wall torn out next to his courtroom to allow for its expansion into a full-sized facility. The courtroom's city hall neighbors — the city comptroller and accounting, computer processing and billing sections — would be relocated in the basement.

The judge has approached Madison County Board members and the Madison County Bar Association to help fund for the project. The judge said Mayor Paul Schuler has asked the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp. to consider contributing towards the renovations.

The city would have to make extensive changes to its own basement quarters before it would be suitable for new tenants. The rooms formerly housed the Granite City Police Department.

The city referred the judge's appeal to its City Hall committee.

Ceremony for GED 'grads'

Two graduates of GED (General Education Development) programs will speak at Belleville Area College's GED graduation ceremony Thursday, May 26.

Bill Reynolds, state director of adult education, will deliver the keynote address.

Marilyn Davis of Belleville, who received her GED certificate in December and has completed the BAC word clerk program this spring, is the student speaker.

The ceremony will be at 7 p.m. Thursday in the gym at the main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

More than 550 students earned GED certificates from BAC this spring. BAC offers free GED classes throughout the college's district.

The classes concentrate on the five subject areas of the test, which are grammar, reading in social studies, reading in natural science, practical reading and mathematics.

Classes were offered in Belleville, Sparta, Waterloo, Columbia, Cahokia, Granite City, Collinsville and State Park Place during the 1982-83 school year.

2ND BENEFIT DANCE BY NEWMAN CENTER

The second annual dance sponsored by the SIUE Newman Center is set Thursday, May 26, at the American Legion Hall in Edwardsville. The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. and conclude at 12:30 a.m.

Admission is $5 and includes refreshments. Music will be provided by "Scanners," a new-wave, top-40 pop band. Proceeds from the dance will go to the Sarsuan Village in India.

Work in progress on Clinton plant shouldn't be in rate base: testimony

The Governor's Office of Consumer Services has filed testimony on Illinois Power Company's recently granted rate increase, stating that construction work in progress (CWIP) should not be included in a plant like Clinton, which has an uncertain cost and a distant completion date.

The financial and economic testimony was filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission, which is currently hearing the reconsideration of the IP's rate increase.

Alvin K. Grandys, director of GCS, said, "Appropriate public policy requires a complete prohibition of construction work in progress in rate base since regulated firms should not be insulated from the discipline of market forces, and the consequences of managerial decisions."

"In the case of Illinois Power, moreover, there is a need to eliminate construction work in progress in an equitable and reasoned manner while simulating the effects of a competitive market in the regulatory process."

Based upon testimony filed on behalf of the village of Buffalo, Grandys said, also it is clear that the amount of CWIP in rate base should be immediately reduced, at a minimum, by the $250 million allowed by the ICC in its Jan. 12 order.

This would lower rates by approximately $48.36 million of approximately a 14 percent reduction in billings for the typical residential customer, based upon the 20 percent increase he or she experienced in January, 1983.

Further, the GCS testimony calls upon the ICC to order a management audit of the Clinton project.

Illinois Power's testimony filed April 20 highlighted an additional need to determine a reasonable estimate of the completion date and final cost for the Clinton project.

Further, it has verified that IP cannot be counted on to present reliable and objective information upon which the ICC can ascertain the costs and benefits of completing the Clinton project.

Protest recall

The U.S. ambassador was recalled from Berlin on March 20, 1939, in protest of the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

Blind musician and actor Tom Sullivan has joined the cast of NBC's soap "Search for Tomorrow" as singer-composer Michael Sullivan.

Tom, whose wrestling ability took him to the 1968 Olympic Trials, runs eight miles a day and plays golf despite being blind since birth.

If you saw the movie loosely based on his life, called "If You Could See What I Hear," don't let that stop you from reading his book by the same name.

The book is different and better.

Cease fire

With a cease fire signed on March 20, 1979, France announced the withdrawal of its troops from Chad.
